President's Message—April 2017

Can the things going on in Washington, D.C., get any more divisive? We are certainly experiencing a divide in our Country like never before. I sincerely hope the Republicans can UNITE so we can move forward! Hopefully the R's can work out a plan to repeal and replace Obamacare that will please both sides and, more importantly, be the very best plan for our citizens. This is what they promised and this is what they should deliver. This week we are also looking to the confirmation of Colorado's own Neil Gorsuch as the next Supreme Court Justice. Are we going to a "nuclear" option where they reduce a super majority vote from 60 to a simple majority vote of 51? Time will tell but it certainly looks like that is going to happen since the Dems are so afraid of this nominee. I guess Harry Reid will regret the day that the Dems used that option on previous Presidential nominees and judges. If I remember right, we had a simple majority vote when it came to Obamacare. Overall, I believe that President Trump is doing a great job but many of the things he's doing are not being reported by the MSM . . . are we surprised? To get regular updates on what is going on at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, sign up at www.whitehouse.gov.

Here in Colorado, we have our own uniting to do. With the election of our new CO State GOP Chair on April 1st, Jeff Hays and his team have a lot of work to do to bring everyone together. Jeff won by almost a 2-1 margin so I hope the other candidate's supporters can see that we have to work together so we can turn Colorado RED in 2018 by putting a Republican back in the Governor's Mansion. It's also our chance to increase the number of Republicans in the Legislature. They can't just leave the Party, sit back and cry in their beer because their guy lost . . . that's acting like the Dems! UNITE!! Let's make Colorado and America Great Again!

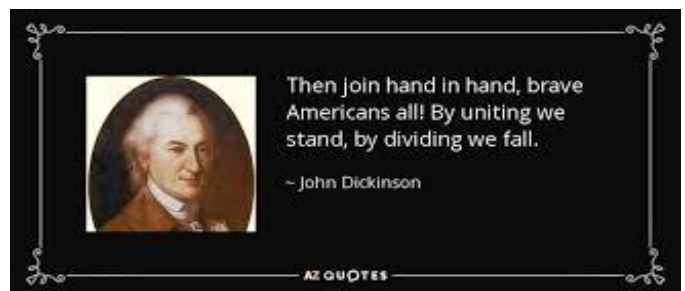

The 2017 Membership Directory is almost ready to go to the printer. If you have not yet renewed your membership and want to be included in the Directory, contact me immediately at 303-841-4318 or renew your membership on our website at www.dcrw.org. This is the last call!

I'm looking forward to seeing all of you on April 19th to hear visiting CU Professor Francis Beckwith . . . you don't want to miss this one!

Yours in Freedom and Liberty,

Marsha ☺

Walk to Work Day – April 7th!

Excerpted from

<https://www.daysoftheyear.com/days/walk-to-work-day/>

Walking to work, who does that anymore? We know with all the rushing around you have to do and hitting the snooze button 5 times before crawling out of bed and barely getting there on time in the car... who has time to WALK to work? Well Walk to Work Day is a chance to change up your routine, add a little more time to it, and see how a slower start to your day can lead to a more efficient life overall. In this age of growing awareness about how being sedentary effects our health, walking to work can make a huge difference in our lives, and our lifespans.

History of Walk To Work Day

Of course, the heart of Walk to Work Day isn't just based in our physical and emotional health, but actually concerns itself with the health of the planet as a whole. Prevention magazine promoted this holiday in 2004 and it was quickly picked up by the US Department of Health and Human services. It was a strong mutual push for this holiday in the years to follow, and continues to be celebrated and supported unofficially by people everywhere.

Walking to work provides amazing health benefits to the otherwise sedentary person. The extra time necessary to walk to work helps wake you up and spend time clearing your head and greeting the day in something less than a rush. In a world where we so often forget that there's more to life than working and sleeping, this extra time can help us take time to appreciate the things we usually miss. Whether it's just the feel of the wind on our skin, the sun overhead, the rain falling down, the sound of birds or just the activity and life of the city around us, Walk to Work Day helps to reconnect us with our environment in some very important ways.
